Author Biography

Stephen N. Jones is a young science fiction writer who wants to take your hand and lead you onto an amazing adventure with a fresh perspective on science fiction by fusing it with fantasy and the adventure and action of Japanese manga.

Jones was born in Swansea, Wales in 1988. He grew up in Llanelli and, when he was twelve years old, his family moved to Spain. He has always had a passion for writing, but he has an even greater passion for science fiction and fantasy, which began at an early age when his father introduced him to science fiction programs. Apart from reading and writing, he has a passion for video games and all things futuristic.

He started writing the Children of Jambheria Universe in 2011, and he intends to finish the story in four books, along with short stories which will tie in with the main story line.

One of his goals with this series is to inspire and encourage youngsters to read and write again, using their imagination and to use writing as an emotional outlet.

The glistening homeworld of the Jambherian race is not as idyllic as it seems, slowly the perfect utopia unravels as the sinister truth of this alien society comes to light.

Ferrius has revolted and his rebellion has a dark ulterior motive. Procestious is now a doomed planet!

Will Ferrius eradicate all organic life, or will he be eradicated?

Can the scientists find a way to win this war?

When advancements in android technology flourish, it soon takes a turn for the worse as their "creations" rebel and war breaks out. As the almighty race of aliens are brought to their knees, the ravaged planet leaves few places for its inhabitants to hide and escape this genocidal rampage.

Protos, the Jambherian hero, decides to take matters into his own hands, but when his experiments continue to fail, the question remains; Stay, fight and risk annihilation, or escape his devastated homeworld with the last surviving members of his race?

The future of the Children of Jambheria and the whole of the galaxy lie in the outcome of the Procestian war.

Chapter Excerpt

EXCERPTED FROM CHAPTER 11: PLAN 19

They were locked in an intense battle, their moves were blindingly quick that the excess force caused even more damage to what was left of the lobby.

As their battle continued, the Jamatrix's last command came into effect, the Chamber of Inventions was being covered by the same airidium coating as its door, thus preventing it from being destroyed by the crumbling lobby. Ferrius snarled as he continued to slash at the Jamatrix, both of them were battered and bloodied, neither one of them able to gain the upper hand over the other, suddenly a large chunk of marble fell in-between them and both of them jumped back out of the way just before it hit the floor with a resounding crash and ended their clash.

Both of them stared at each other and panted, their previous clash had almost drained them of energy, but they both jumped over the large chunk of marble and clashed in the air, the Jamatrix flipped Ferrius up into the air with a swift blow from her energy pole, the blow dented his body again. As he hurtled upward at blinding speeds, he opened his eyes and saw that the Jamatrix was flying straight at him, with her pole readied for her final blow. He wasn't going to let her finish him, he had come so far and wasn't going to let it all end here. He extended his arm and his hand folded onto itself, the cannon slid out and Ferrius charged it, but he couldn't charge it quick enough to get a full blast, because the Jamatrix was only a few meters away from him. He fired the charge and the small ball of energy sped towards her and hit her head on. The explosion of energy knocked the Jamatrix back down and she hit the ground with a loud crunch. She let go of her pole and it rolled a few meters away from her. She coughed up some blood as she tried to get up and continue the fight. A few seconds later Ferrius landed back on the ground and struggled to get up, but he did and he walked over to the wounded Jamatrix, he grabbed her by the neck with his stained hand and lifted her up off of the ground. He stared into her eyes.

"Your time has come. Even gods perish," Ferrius said and the blade on his free, stained arm hummed idly. The Jamatrix looked at the blade and looked back into Ferrius' eyes, and gasped again as if trying to say something. Ferrius lightened his grasp on her neck.

"And so do...machines," she spluttered.

Main Characters

Protos Kervain: An honorable, just and battle-hardened Jambherian warrior, who leads the council's army which is Procestious' main defense force. His personality drastically changes during the war and his only goal is to stop it by any means necessary.

Carah Kervain (fe Almintos): She is one of Procestious' most prolific and elite scientists. She has a brilliant mind, specializing in nanotechnology and biology, she is also a member of one of the oldest families in Jambherian society and a member of an elite scientific community called BMOP (Brilliant Minds Of Procestious). Determined and meticulous, she doesn't like to waste her time and becomes the driving force behind the new defense program.

Ryan Kervain: Ryan is Protos and Carah's eldest son. He is a teenage Jambherian that stands about 1.70 meters tall and has copper-colored spiky hair. He looks up to his father, is very obedient and looks out for his younger brother Tyler.

Karen Truvil: Karen is a brilliant surgeon who has a fiery personality in her social life as well as her working life, she specializes in the same fields as Carah and has a secret obsession with mechanical engineering. She is sassy and loses her temper quickly when she is under pressure. She is the scientist who finished Protos' project.

Veran Camdev: He is a very intelligent, young Jambherian male, with short silver and black hair, he is an expert in Jambitsu (Jambherian martial art) and hand-to-hand combat and trains young Jambherian warriors at the academy, he is Tyler and Sheri's (nickname Cherry) master. He is one of Procestious' finest warriors, with a laid-back attitude and is very calm in intense situations. These strengths qualify him as the Elder's right-hand man.

Risuo Leinad: Risuo is Veran's best friend, he is about the same age but is slightly taller, with almost pure white hair flowing down his back. He has a very high IQ and he is an able strategist. Risuo is a master of Jambistu and his technique even rivals Veran's.

Kelstro Durvan: Kelstro is a young Jambherian with messy black hair, he is an introvert and often misunderstood by others. He has a brilliant mind and is a robotics and bio-mechanic prodigy. He is one of the youngest scientists to be admitted into the BMOP and becomes a member of Project Surge.

Ferrius (Model number: F3RR1US X-3): Ferrius is one of the first thousand Biometricians created by the Jambherians using a data crystal found on a mechanical planet that the Jambherians had explored. Capable of emotion and a reproductive system, the Biometricians were able to “replicate” themselves in order to speed up production. He stands almost 2 meters tall with silicone skin and his joints are visible to the naked eye. His eyes have a gray mechanical look to them and he doesn’t have any hair, a serial number and bar code are engraved on his forehead and he has various small circular hatches on his head. Just like every other Biometrician he has the capability to store weapons and gadgets inside his body.

Ferrius is a cold, calculated, pensive strategist and is leader of the revolt, who infects his bloodthirsty ideologies into his compatriots.

Valtron (Model number: V4LTRON V-59): Valtron is one of Ferrius’ commanders and “brother”, who lives and serves with Ferrius in the Elder’s mansion. He is about 1.75 meters in height with short black hair as he is one of the newer models that has hair implants. He still has all of the noticeable Biometrician characteristics, he has gray cloudy eyes, his robotic joints are visible and his skin is made of silicone.

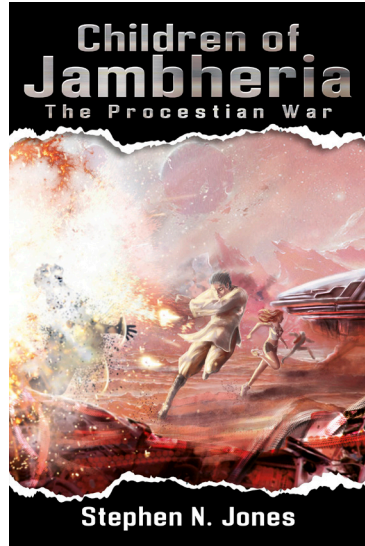

Valtron is cunning and sinister, he was sucked in by his brother’s ideologies and stood beside him as they massacred their masters. He is ruthless in battle, incapable of showing mercy to his enemies, just like his brother and every other Drifter, he is equipped with weapons and gadgets.

Raina (Model number: R41N4 T-88): Raina is a female Biometrician and one of Ferrius’ commanders and “sister”. She is 1.75 meters tall with gray mechanical eyes and long brunette hair streaked with red highlights, as she is one of the newer models. She has a perfectly formed silicone covered body. Raina was a quiet, obedient maid working along with Ferrius and Valtron in the Elder’s mansion. Fueled by her brother’s bloodthirsty ideologies and her own pent up rage, she quickly becomes a lethal killing machine and like all Biometricians, she is equipped with weapons and is not afraid to use them.

Victoria (Model number: V1CT0R14 AT-2): She is a Biometrician female about 1.69 meters tall with long purple hair and characteristic gray eyes. Victoria is one of three Biometrician androids to have 3D emotions, which allows her to have advanced feelings and an artificial free will. She is an extrovert and loves expressing herself to others, sometimes coming on too strong.

Aura (Model number: 4UR4 AT-1): Aura is a female Biometrician standing at almost two meters tall. She has an athletic build and is covered in deep blue metallic plating, she has gray short hair and deep blue eyes, something uncharacteristic, since standard Biometrician design are gray. Even though she has the 3D emotion chip installed, she is stoic, serious and very direct.
